

Our School Dog... Dexter's News!

January 2025 - Post No.60

Well January has certainly been rather chilly, windy and above all very, very wet! As a result of this, I have spent rather a lot of my time curled up supervising either a radiator or at home, our log burner (which I really love!)

Of course the beginning of this month was part of the Christmas holidays, in addition to the news I shared last month, I must also mention that before the 7th January deadline, Miss Redman and I completed Miss Stevens Holiday Fitness Challenge by going on plenty of walks and even popping down to Brighton again to see my Aunt and get those steps in along the seafront - here we are on all of those! I also received a couple of late Christmas presents which I have become expert in opening!

In terms of my work at Westfields, one highlight this month absolutely has to be attending some of the auditions for Westfields Has Talent! I am always happy to share my opinions and I must say I was very, very impressed! There were so many confident children excited to 'perform' but I know Miss Redman (Mrs Long and Miss Burns) don't enjoy having to select the finalists as they are so proud of them all. At the Infants I have had the pleasure of looking at some of the children's work when they have visited Miss Redman in her office. There is always much excitement and the children seem to love the stickers that she puts in their books; don't tell her but... I actually think the children are even more excited to see me at the same time!

I am looking forward to February and the temperatures warming up so I can spend more time with my walking buddies...

Love,

Dexter
