

Our School Dog... Dexter's News!

December 2024 - Post No.59

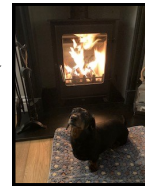

To say that December has been a busy month would be a HUGE understatement but I have certainly enjoyed all the festive fun (and treats!). During my working days I have been quite simply rushed off my feet as the school diaries have been absolutely jam-packed! With Nativities, a carol service, four Christmas lunches, parties, discos, a quiz, the Christmas Extravaganza, a Christmas fair, Santa visits and of course the usual day-to-day business, I most definitely deserved a rest when the end of term arrived!

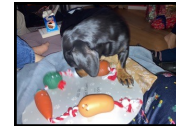

But before that, early in December, Miss Redman and I visited Windsor to soak up a little Christmas magic; in addition to the enormous Christmas tree just beyond the castle walls, there were plenty of giant decorations so of course I had to have my photo taken to share with you...

This month we also had a log burner fitted at home - I have decided that my new favourite spot is as close to the door as I can possibly be without burning my whiskers! With this rather chilly spell we have had recently, and when the log burner is not lit, I have also discovered that I also enjoy squiggling up like a furry doughnut in my pitta bed - it is definitely very warm and cosy!

Of course we had lots of fun celebrating Christmas at home too; it was particularly exciting to have our family visit for the big day as well as Boxing Day. To my delight this involved turkey, roasted ham and an array of cheese as well as lots of fuss, cuddles and presents (I was very spoilt indeed!).

We celebrated the end of the year with friends which was lovely although I must confess that once again I was not a big fan of the fireworks! I hope you had fun too - I can't wait to hear all of your holiday news.

Love, Dexter
