

Our School Dog... Dexter's News!

December 2025 - Post No.71

It was worth waiting for! I had an absolutely fabulous December but I must confess that by the end of term came I was exhausted!!! We certainly packed in so much festive fun to the last couple of weeks and I was in need of a very well earned rest - including in one of my favourite spots in front of the log burner!

Before the end of term I joined in with lots of the festive fun - I attended lots of the Nativity rehearsals as well as the Junior discos, Infant parties and no less than two Christmas lunches (that were absolutely delicious - 5* rating from me!

One evening we had a special visitor (not Santa yet!) it was my new best friend Rex - he popped into Miss Redman's office to say hello and I was very excited to meet him - here's our photo of '...when Dex met Rex!'

Upon reflection of the Christmas break, I think I must be the best behaved dog in the whole world as I was such a lucky boy who received so many Christmas presents! As you can see here, another favourite pastime of mine is opening gifts. I have become so skilled at ripping the paper and getting my nose straight in to those toys and treats. I can sniff them out from under the tree and know exactly which wrapped parcels are meant for me; what a clever boy I am!

Of course over the Christmas break I have not spent the whole time just opening presents and eating, I have managed to get out and about and on some days even find a little sunshine! Highlights have included a seaside walk with my aunt down in Brighton and an explore of Petworth Deer Park - just to get a little culture squeezed in!

Unfortunately for me with the end of the month and the new year festivities, this brings fireworks... I've shared with you before that I am not a fan and this continues to be the case. Whilst I can understand the celebrations at midnight on the 31st December, I would definitely rather people didn't it is just so scary for my friends and !!

I am so looking forward to all of the adventures we are going to share in 2026 - lets hope it's the best one ever!

Love,

Dexter
